The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) was originally required to be implemented by the US and is aimed at ensuring that US persons with financial assets outside the US are paying the correct amount of US tax. FATCA places obligations on Foreign Financial Institutions (FFI) to identify and report annually certain information about US Persons who own or control financial accounts maintained by the FFIs, ultimately to the IRS. In certain circumstances FFI's may be required to withhold on certain US source income and capital proceeds paid to their investors. More recently the UK has imposed a similar regime on the Crown Dependencies in respect of UK Persons. The OECD has obtained assent from many nations to automatically exchange similar information on the tax residents of other assenting nations under the "Common Reporting Standard". Withholding tax does not currently apply under these other regimes.
STANLIB Fund Managers Jersey Limited on behalf of the funds, will be complying with these various tax driven information exchange initiatives. Consequently investors must expect that information about them will be reported via local tax comptrollers to tax authorities in jurisdictions which have assented to comply with these initiatives, in which investors are tax resident.
